By Joseph Fitchett

PARIS - As contracts fall into slace for a mammoth Siberian gas sipelioe to Western Europe, a ugh-level U.S. mission is making a asi-minute plea to allied govern-nents — apparently to little avail — to reconsider the energy deal with the Soviet Union.

There are indications that the igreement will be completed in ime for Soviet President Leonid I. Srezhnev's visit to West Germany tarting Nov. 22. After a flurry of construction and credit deals in re-xnt weeks, there are reports that he Russians are ready to drop he Russians are ready to drop heir asking price for the gas — the ast outstanding issue. Ruhrgas, the West German utili-y that is leading the gas buyers' consortium, could conclude the agreement this week. When com-pleted, the 2,200-mile (3,520-ki-ometer) twin-pipe line will deliver the gas, the equivalent of 700,000 barrels a day of oil, from Urengoy, in western Siberia. in western Siberia.

Although European govern-ments are pointedly treating the pipelinc as a commercial matter, it is politically controversial because of U.S.-Soviet tension. The deal weakens a Reagan administration attempt to control strategic commerce with the East bloc.

Contracts Assigned

Reagan administration officials have described the pipeline as an untimely structural change in Sovi-et-European commerce that could give Moscow economic and politi-cal leverage, A U.S. official said, for example, that if the Russians intervened in Iran, European gov-ernments might be reluctant to im-pose sanctious because the pipeline would have created strong gas dependence and economic links.

To build it, multibillion-dollar contracts have been assigned to European firms, including West Germany's Mannesmann and

AEG-Kanis and Italy's Nuovo Pig-

Once gas deliveries have paid these bills, the pipeline will bring the Soviet Unico at least $7.5 bil-lion annually in hard curreccy. This revenue will enable the So-viet Unico a sector of the soviet Union to maintain a strong or-der book, a U.S. diplomat said, particularly for Europe's troubled achine-tool and steel industries. To press these U.S. objections, a mission led by Myer Rashish, un-dersecretary of state for economie defision of the state for economic affairs, last week visited West Ger-many and France. This week he will see representatives of other customers for the Soviet gas — Austria, Belgium, Italy, the Netherlands and Switzerland — who will be attending an Interna-tional Energy Agency meeting in Paris.

Paris. Pars. Mr. Rashish can expect to be politely rebuffed, several European sources said. Already, West Ger-man Economics Minister Otto G. Lambsdorff has said that "West Germany intends to stick to the Soviet deal."

Growing Concern in U.S.

Acknowledging that the U.S. push has come late, Mr. Rashish nonetheless indicated in an inter-view during the weekend that U.S. opinion is showing growing con-cern about the pipeline — appar-ently because it reinforces U.S. fears of neutralist transfe in Weetfears of neutralist trends in Western Europe.

West Germany, in the U.S. view, is the European country that is spurring the Siberian deal. "France actually needs the gas more, but the West Germans are the ones in a hurry," a U.S. source said. Apparently equally eager, the Soviet Union also is reported to be dropping its gas price below the oil-equivalent level sought by Algeria and other major gas export-

WASHINGTON - Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr., disputing Leonid I. Brezhnev's assertions of "approximate parity" in ouclear forces in Europe, has said that the Soviet Union has roughly a 3-to-1 advantage over the United States in missiles and aircraft.

But Mr. Haig, saying he was "leery" of such aggregate numeri-cal comparisons, contended that the Soviet numerical edge did not give the Kremlin ouclear superiori-ty in Europe. ### Poll Finds Britons Believe Reagan Raises War Risk

LONDON — An opinion poll in The Observer oewspaper indi-cates that a majority of Britons sampled believes President Reagan's foreign policy makes a ouclear war more likely and wants U.S. air bases removed from their country.

The Observer said the poll, which it published on Saturday, was carried out by the National Opinioo Poll on its behalf on Oct. 26 and 27. This was after Mr. Reagan's widely reported remarks about the possibility of a European ouclear conflict but before last week's conflicting statements by Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. and Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger on the Western alliance's policy over the use of a "demonstrative" nuclear attack.

The newspaper said the opinions of 1,038 persons in 53 British electoral districts were consulted. It said 57 percent thought Mr. Reagan's policies made nuclear war more likely, while only 8 percent thought they made such an ontcome less likely.

Fifty-three percent, the oewspaper said, wanted U.S. Air Force bases removed from Britain. The Observer did oot say what percentage wanted the bases to remain,

But, the oewspaper said, 67 percent of the sampling wanted Britain to keep its own ouclear deterrent. Only 23 percent favored unilateral nuclear disarming. And 73 percent wanted Britain to remain in NATO and 35 percent wanted the government to spend more money on defense, while only 22 percent wanted less.

WASHINGTON - The Reagan administration, reversing the poli-cy of the Carter administration, has given Egypt assurances of a U.S. unlitary umbrella against the Soviet Union in case of an Egyp-tian attack on Libya, official sources said.

The sources described the assurances as falling short of encouragement to Egypt to attack its radical oeighbor, an action that many U.S. as well as Egyptian military commanders view as risky and perhaps impractical in current circumstances.

The sources emphasized that no military engagement was on the borizon.

Officials of the Carter White House said the action was taken because of concern that an openended commitment would give too much latitude and encouragement to Sadat, while reserving for Washington too little control over a confrontation with the Soviet Union. The Reagan administration's decision to renew the U.S. commitment arose from broad and still incomplete policy-making about Col. Qadhali that has taken place intermittently since early this year.

In a more detailed speech Friday at a rally in the Kremlin, Marshal Ustinov said comments by members of the Reagan adminis-tratioo on the feasibility of a limited ouclear exchange were dangerous. He denied that Soviet military doctrine included the concept of a pre-emptive ouclear strike and said the Warsaw Pact and the Atlantic alliance were now roughly bal-

And based on about a dozen recent examples, the drive is off to a good start.

"It's not quite a boom yet and uncertainties remain, but the investment climate under the Socialists definitely has changed for the better ... we are pushing ahead," said the executive of a leading U.S. mulonacional company that is among those launching or expanding industrial proj-Like the events of a soap op-

Warming Relations

The Mitterrand government also wants to tap advanced U.S. technology and know-how in key sectors, such as electron-ics, mainly to compete with intensifying competition from Japan, even though some decidedly bostile French industrialists fear a new, unwelcome source of competition at home,

The new policy reflects warming U.S.-French relations, Western and French of-ficials said. "Domestic considerations clearly predominate, but it is not pure chance that welcoming Americans now is coming just as Presidents Mitterrand and Reagan are agreeing on key Atlantic is-sues," said a senior Western diplomat based in Paris.

Among the U.S. direct investments an-nounced in the past several weeks are the government officials. following:

· Ford plans to invest $200 million to expand its large auto transmission plant in Bordeaux, representing the largest foreign investment in France this year and Ford's single biggest in Western Europe.

· Harris Inc. and Intel, also of California, are teaming up with the recently nationalized Matra group of France to double the capacity of an existing semiconductor plant and to build a new electronic design center, both in Nantes.

 Union Carbide is teaming up with Elf-Aquitaine, the state-controlled oil company, to build a carbon fiber plant in southwestern France, and they are considering a second unit to manufacture polyacrylonitrile, a petrochemical used in textile fibers.

Preparations for these projects and roughly half a dozen others being evaluat-ed by the French government were started before the election victory of Mr. Mitterrand last May.

But after the election, each case was carefully reviewed for potential political implications, in most cases by the U.S.based top management and boards of directors of the companies, according to inserviews with company executives on both and Finance.

"I feared my top management would re-

This year - representing the first major increase since 1976 — foreign direct in-vestments in France will rise from the year-carlier level of about $2 billion, led by the United States and trailed by West Germany, Britaio and Switzerland, government officials said.

Remaining Barriers

A decade ago, total direct investments in France totaled $2.9 billion, according to a recent survey of investment trends published by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development.

Barriers remain. For example, Western diplomats in Paris said that the Mitterrand government still appears opposed to foreign takeovers of major French compa-

Meantime, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce in France recently circulated a sixpage memorandum to key ministries out-lining and criticizing what it considers to be continuing obstacles to oew U.S. investments, affecting both companies and executives based in France.

The chamber would like to see more detailed information regarding what sectors the government wants to develop plus the terms of possible foreign participation, as well as swifter processing of requests for approval of projects.

New government-sponsored tax proposals aimed at raising personal income taxes and tapping revenues generated outside France also should be revised to favor investments and, above all, executives,

Tax Plans Feared

According to the memorandum, the government tax proposals are costly and unfair and could cause executives and their companies to leave or bypass French investments in favor of those in Britain and Belgium or other countries which have "more understanding" attitudes.

"This is oot the best time to be investing in France, since there are still many uncertainties such as the gloomy state of the economy," said a director of the chamber and a longtime Paris resident. He added that "our suggestions are aimed at making France more competiove."

Senior French officials said that they were studying the letter and that it would be answered. "Wc want to be understanding," the Finance Ministry official said. The resolution was announced by Lebanese Premier Shafiq al-Wazzan following two days of talks by the mediation group — the Arab Follow-up Committee on Lebanon — at the presidential pal-ace in Ba'abda, five miles (eight ki-lometers) east of Beirut.

The communiqué called for the deployment of 700 members of the Lebanese security forces on both sides of the mid-city line that has been a traditional battleground for Lebanon's warring factions since the 1975-76 Lebanese civil war.

WASHINGTON - The postponed second flight of the space shuttle Columbia has been scheduled for Thursday morning after technicians at the Kennedy Space Center replaced two clogged oil filters and flushed the lines that carry the oil to the craft's hydraulic lines.

The oil was also changed in the shuttle's auxiliary power units Saturday after technicians found contaminated hubricating oil in two of the three power units that control the shuttle's hydraulics.

"Getting to a Thursday launch is a very tight schedule," the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Saturday, "but one which the mission management team feels can be met."

Zimbabwe Army Merger Completed

SALISBURY --- A passing-out parade of 1,050 soldiers in Bulawaye has marked the end of Zimbabwe's most crucial post-independence program - the merger into a single force of three armies that once fought each other.

The former guerrillas, some loyal to Prime Minister Robert Mugabe and some to his junior coalition government partner Joshua Nkomo, fought against white minority rule, but deep-rooted tribal hostilities and ideological differences often sparked bloody fighting between each other.

The battalion, wearing the black, brown and green camouflage of their old common foes, the Rhodesian Army, became with them Saturday part of the Zimbabwe National Army.

Fifty-three percent of the 1,000 adults questioned by the polling firm IFRES gave him a positive rating, while 31 percent gave him a negative rating and 16 percent expressed no opinion. A similar poll in August gave Mr. Mitterrand a 44-percent positive rating and 35-percent negative rating with 21 percent undecided.

Forty-eight percent of those surveyed said the government tends toward moderation, while 34 percent called it radical and 18 percent expressed no opinion. Forty-one percent said Mr. Mitterrand had kept his promises to reduce inflation, 48 percent said he had not, and 11 percent had no opinion. On unemployment, 48 percent said he had failed to keep his promises, 44 percent said he had kept them, and 8 percent expressed no opinion.

Hussein Reveals Iraq Aid on Missiles

WASHINGTON — King Hussein of Jordan said in an interview broadcast Sunday that Iraq had helped to pay for a 5200-million surface to-air missile system his country is buying from the Soviet Union.

The king said, in a television interview recorded Saturday in Los Angeles, that no Soviet technicians would accompany the SAM-6 missiles but that Jordanians would go to the Soviet Union for training.

The king, who made a state visit to Washington last week, said: "We negotiated an agreement and they [Iraq] were forthcoming in their payments." He said that after Syria carried out a huge military buildup at its borders with Jordan last year, "we had to look at anything and every-thing that was available." But he repeated an earlier statement that no conditions were attached to the deal with the Soviet Union.

N YOU TELL'EM BACK HOME HOW YOU "REINED" IN ELAND, SAVE SOME IRISH POUNDS ON THE CALL.

The Irish have a way of making you feel like a queen. They put you up in one of their ancient castles. Invite you to lavish medieval banquets at night. And show you the most beautiful countryside in the world by day-in a jaunting cart, no less (with you holding the reins). But before you share it all with the folks back home, check out these pound-saving tips.

SAVE ON SURCHARGES

Many hotels outside the U.S. charge exorbitant surcharge fees on international calls. And sometimes the fees are greater than the cost of the call itself. But if your hotel has TELEPLAN, the way to keep hotel surcharges reasonable, go ahead and call. No Teleplan? Read on! There are other ways to save.

SAVE WITH A SHORTIE

In most countries there's no threeminute minimum on self-dialed calls. So if your hotel offers International Dialing from your room, place a short call home and have them call you back. The surcharge on short calls is low. And you pay for the callback from the States with dollars, not local currency, when you get your next home or office phone bill.

countries. And where they are, the hotel surcharges on such calls are usually low. Or, you can avoid surcharges altogether by calling from the post office or from other telephone centers.

SAVE NIGHTS & WEEKENDS

Always check to see whether the country you're in has lower rates at night and on weekends. Usually the savings are considerable. You'll save a lot of green when you follow these tips. And a lot of gas when you travel by jaunting cart.

Europe's intention of signing the deal, a diplomat said, Mr. Rash-ish's trip "must be essentially a to-ken effort" to satisfy Mr. Reagan's concern, at the Ottawa summit last energy needs, but they need Soviet gas to reduce dependency now on the Middle East.

Apparently treating the deal as a fait accompli, the Commerce De-partment already has authorized Caterpillar Tractor Co. to sell pipe-laying equipment for the disputed project. If U.S. hard-liners try a last-ditch stand, they could deny ex-port permits for General Electric components that European contractors intend to use in the pipeline. Mr. Reagan must soon sign an order regulating the sale of oil and gas technology to the Soviet Union, and a restrictive approach could theoretically be applied to GE's European licensees. However, such an "extraternito-nal application of U.S. export control regulations," Mr. Rashish recently told Congress, could canse tensions with "many of our closest allies, who have shown they are ex-tremely sensitive to attempts to ap-ply U.S. laws in their territories." Acknowledging the limits of: U.S. leverage, Mr. Rashish said he had not come to Europe "to tor-pedo the deal," but to urge the Entopeans to look at it again in the light of U.S. objections.

U.S. Arguments

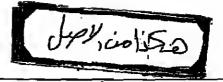

Currently, U.S. arguments focus on energy market trends, some of which suggest that Soviet gas van the pipeline may be too expensive; — and too much — for Europe's' eeds in the next decade. However, European planners cite Dutch plans to cut gas output and Norwegian reluctance to ex-pand as proof that the Soviet deal s needed.

U.S. critics also objected to Western banks' plans to provid capital for the Soviet development reportedly at less than 8-perce ulterest.

In addition to enabling the So et Union to exploit new Siberian resources, this decision also in creases competition for capital to build rival energy projects, includ-ing an Alaskan oatural gas pipe line or Nigerian gas fields. # U.S. Budget Choices Unchanged, But Discord Grows Over Strategy

By Steven R. Weisman

New York Times Service WASHINGTON - Like the events on a soap opera, the dismal economic choices confronting President Reagan last week had a familiar look. They were, in fact, the same choices of what to cut in the budget that he faced upon election a year ago. But this time Mr. Reagan is handicapped by divisioo among his advisers and allies over what to do.

While public altention was focused on disputes involving Sec-retary of State Alexander M. Haig Ir., an equally fierce and increasingly bitter struggle was taking place between Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan and David A. Stockman, director of the Office of Management and Bodget. Its focus is the rising budget def-

The president thereby signaled that he was siding with the Treas-ury secretary. Nevertheless, the White House said Mr. Reagan might eventually consider some oew proposals for tax increases for the fiscal years 1983 and 1984, Such is the approach advocated by Mr. Stockman — and with such zeal that some White House aides have begun to grow impatient with

Mr. Stockman argues that the recession is going to push the pro-jected deficit so high - new estimates put it at up to $100 billion that little progress can be made on closing the gap this year or next by more cuts in social programs. The president is said to be coduring heated debates as Secretary Regan asserts that he must oever betray his principle of refusing to balance the budget "on the backs of the taxpayers" and Mr. Stock-man responds with a lecture on how Mr. Reagan must close the federal deficit

There was also the inertia factor. White House officials agree that the practical outcome of "sticking to our guns" is a round of tough veto and veto-override fights this When a president hears conflicting advice, his tendeocy often is to lis-ten to the adviser who tells him to do oothing.

WASHINGTON - Despite persistent reports of concern within the Reagan administration about the civil war in El Salvador, the State Department says it considers the U.S.-supported civilian-military government to be "stronger today than it was at the beginning of the year."

Alan Romberg, a department spokesman, responding to ques-tions on Friday about the challenge to the Salvadoran government from leftist guerrillas, said: "Politically, it has held together despite intense pressures from the extreme tight and extreme left and has emerged more unified and stronger than ever."

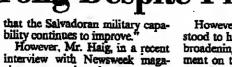

Mr. Romberg's comments came amid reports that the administra-tion believed the war had reached a stalemate and that the govern-ment headed by President José Napoleón Duarte could be defeated unless the United States took new steps to bolster it. In recent interviews, Secretary

There was a new sign of congressional restiveness over the admin-istration's policy last Thursday as the House Subcommittee on Inter-American Affairs voted 9-0 for a resolution urging President Reagan to "press for uncondition-al discussions" among the warring Salvadoran factions to help guar-

MEXICO CITY -- After more than 61 years of public and clandestine life, Mexico's Communist Party, one of the world's oldest. has formally dissolved. But although it has scrapped its name, it is merging with four smaller par-ties in a new leftist opposition front

With this move, much of Mexico's scattered left appears to ac-cept what its more unified Central American counterparts have recognized for several years - that squabbles over doctrine and tactics among Marrists may go on indefi-mitely, but that only a coalition will ever provide the chance to challenge the status quo.

In contrast with the armed left in the neighboring countries, how-ever, Mexico's Communists and Socialists have chosen the electoral route, and the new leftist coalition will run its first, and still unnamed, candidate in the presidential election next June.

The four other groups in the new coalition — the Revolutionary Socialists, the Socialist Unity and the national total. Action Movement, the Popular Action Movement and the Mexi-can People's Party — were not of-ficially recognized by the govern-ment as parties.

Poses No Threat

The Communists are expected to dominate the coshition. While giving Mexico's left a new impetus, it hardly poses a threat to main-stream politics.

This permitted the Communist Party to come in from the cold, and four years ago it was given le-gal registry. It now has 19 of the 100 lower house seals that are reserved for minority parties. There are 300 other seats, most of which HANDELSBLATT is the ideal medium for those who wish to address the decision-makers of German business.

HANDELSBLATT is to the German businessman what the Wall Street Journal and the Financial Times are to his American and British counterparts - a daily economic newspaper focusing exclusively on business and finance.

Effective coverage and cost efficiency are two reasons why HANDELSBLATT has become the best known address for financial advertising in Germany.

Albania split with the Kremlin over ideology in 1960 and withdrew from the Warsaw Pact in 1968 after the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia. It subsequently drew closer to China, but attacked Chinese policies following the death of Mao in 1976, and since then has pursued an independent COURSE.

LONDON - New dental evidence leaves oo doubt that Hitler died by his own hand in his Berlin bunker, but it strongly suggests the body found next to his was not that of his longtime mistress, Eva Braun, a British medical journal reports.

Soviet soldiers who captured the German capi-tal in the spring of 1945 came upon 13 bodies ocar the bunker, and since then Soviet anthorities have maintained that the bodies of Hitler and Miss Braun were among them. The Russians have backed the contention with autopsy records.

The British Medical Association News Review, in its November issue, says that the Soviet evidence on Hitler matches the Nazi leader's known dental records on 26 separate points, including a unique "window crown" on one tooth and bridgework in Hitler's lower right jaw.

But, as to the former photographer's assistant who was married to Hitler the day before he died, "the odontological data virtually eliminate the previous assumption that [the body found by the Russians] was the remains of Eva Braun,"

The medical journal points to evidence that a dental bridge made for Miss Braun and used to link the corpse with her had in reality never been installed in her mouth, that several teeth found with the body showed extensive cavities while Miss Braun's dental records showed the same

her. No one actually witnessed her death and there are inconsistencies in the accounts of those who supposedly took Eva's body outside the

The Vanishing Topsoil

The swiftly growing demand for American agricultural exports, while contributing more and more to the trade balance, has set American farm policy on a dangerous course. Larger and larger harvests, that both meet and require larger and larger exports, require farming practices that are destroying the resource on which all farming depends - the topsoil. For every bushel of corn harvested in Iowa these days, two irreplaceable bushels of soil are lost.

What is happening is no secret. Since the spring of 1977, when dust storms reminiscent of the 1930s swept across the Great Plains, a stream of studies and reports has documented the dimensions of the trend. Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block understands the threat, but economic demands - to keep revenues up, and the budget down -are forcing him to perpetuate the contradictory policies.

Mr. Block recently told Congress that erosion, caused in large part by foreign demand for farm products, is already sharply reducing agricultural productivity and will grow much worse unless conservation programs are greatly expanded. When he testified, Mr. Block was just back from a foreign trade promotion trip that included a visit to woo the newest American agricultural customer. Chi-na, Mr. Block said, "could be our biggest market someday."

Soil erosion is difficult to take seriously when year after year, weather permitting, U.S. farmers produce record harvests. Yet experts agree that a dangerous loss in soil productivity is under way; it is only temporarily masked by heavier use of fertilizers and pesticides.

The numbers are bleak. It takes nature 100 to 1,000 years to produce an inch of topsoil, and on much of American cropland, soil is being lost at the rate of one inch every 15 years. About six inches of topsoil are necessary for commercial farming. Iowa, the heart of the world's breadbasket, once had 14 inches of topsoil. Many parts of the state are down to about 6 inches.

Soil erosion can be controlled, but conservation measures are very expensive. While acknowledging the need for a much greater effort. Secretary Block did no more than propose a new program combining existing funds into block grants. Most farmers do not have the necessary cash. Those who do tend to be large landowners who do not live on their land and who are not interested in what the land will be good for years from now. Meanwhile, the search for export markets to keep surpluses down and prices up pushes farmers to plant on land that is more vulnerable to erosion. Federal policies are encouraging the practice by providing disaster aid that removes the risk for farmers who plow up these marginal acres.

The specter of soil erosion poses one more aching problem for a Congress struggling to control spending. With badly needed social programs being cut, there seems little room for an expensive new program, one whose effects will be felt in the future only. But if room cannot be found, the question must be asked whether in the not too distant future the country will discover to its horror that one of its greatest sources of strength has been irreparably damaged.

Soviet Nuclear Deceit

It turns out that the Soviet submarine that ran aground near Sweden's major naval base, miles inside Swedish territorial waters in a restricted military zone off the Baltic Sea, was carrying nuclear weapons. This was established by measurements of radiation escaping from the errant sub, an old but still serviceable model with torpedo bays. The Swedes made this alarming information public in the report they issued as they freed the sub. The Kremlin's refusal to clarify Swedish inquiries into the matter implies, an official announcement said, "that the Soviet government has been unable to deny the presence of nuclear weapons on board the submarine."

So the Swedes have now certified that Moscow is a nuclear sneak. This is a useful demonstration in more ways than one. It shows, first of all, how easy it is for the Soviets to be hypocrites. They have been running around northern Europe for some years suggesting the establishment of a Nordic nuclear-free zone, whatever that might mean. This is in addition to their traditional professions

ty. Not only have they been caught flagrantly violating the sovereignty of a nearby, friendly, neutral country, they have been caught making a nuclear penetration into the nonnuclear country that is in the heart of the region they wish formally to de-nuclearize.

Can Americans be allowed a passing snort of satisfaction at seeing the Soviet Union embarrassed in this fashion? The United States is continually being taxed in Europe, and perhaps never more than now, for its nuclear ways. The common implication, and sometimes the direct charge, is always that the United States is somehow foisting its nuclear weapons upon the alliance strictly for (unsavory) reasons of its own. In fact, it has yet to be shown that the United States has ever deployed nuclear weapons in Europe other than on terms mutually agreed on with its allies. The current debate over theater nuclear forces is a debate precisely about those terms. It is a convenient moment for European public opinion to be instructed in the ways of the other side.

Amid Washington's Sniping, Secretary Haig Is in Trouble

WASHINGTON - Secretary of State Haig is regarded in Washington as the most experienced member of the Reagan administration in the conduct of foreign affairs, and yet he is in deep trouble. He is not in trouble because of differences with the White House or the Pentagon over policy. He is closer to Secretary of Defense Weinberger and the president's national security adviser, Richard Allen, on the substance of policy than were Secretary of State Vance and Zbigniew Brzezinski in the Carter administration.

He is in trouble for personal reasons. Under the political and personal pressures of his office, he has developed a pattern of losing his temper, and has raised questions about his judgment.

He is not really the cause but in some ways the victim of the Reagan style of government, Nobody in this ad-ministration has ever pretended that the president had mastered the intricate details of foreign policy. He has delegated them to members of his Cabinet and the White House staff, who compete with one another in filling the House start, who compete with one another in filling the vacuum at the top by pronouncing the nation's foreign policy every Sunday morning on "Meet the Press," "Face the Nation," and other television talk shows. This television diplomacy has alarmed Haig from the start. He is a creature of the Pentagon, where decisions are carried out by command, but is now presiding over the State Department, where decisions must be reached by consent and negotiated with Congress and the allies. He has not proved to be very effective in this mist.

He has not proved to be very effective in this misty world of compromising with the White House, comforting Congress, reassuring the allies, or persuading the So-victs, the Israelis or the Arabs. Maybe this assignment is beyond human patience and endurance.

But in grappling with it, Haig has lost his cool. First he tried to insist on what seemed to many in Washington to be excessive control of all foreign, economic and political questions in the Cabinet, to the dismay of his colleagues, who rejected his proposals.

Then he elevated the El Salvador civil war into a major test of U.S.-Soviet relations, and discussed foreign policy in terms of military weapons, as if he were secretary of defense, which maybe he should have been, rather than as the secretary of state, whose job is to make peace.

Why Elevate a Rumor?

This problem of his temperament and his judgment came to dramatic public notice in the last few days when he had the State Department spokesman say publicly that there was a "guerrilla campaign" by unnamed persons within the administration to get him fired. Since President Reagan had said the day before that he supported Haig, this was very odd. Why elevate a rumor into a front-page story all over the world? Why embarrass the president, who was trying to calm things down, by insisting that there was some kind of conspiracy within the administration against him?

Making things worse, Haig then testified in Congress the next day, while the European allies were trying to deal with big anti-nuclear demonstrations, that Washington had a "contingency plan" to explode a "demonstration" nuclear bomb in the event that the Soviets launched a noi Send

and the second second

nocicar bonno in the event that the Soviet's faithful a. conventional military attack against Western Europe. This was immediately denied in Congress by Secretary of Defense Weinberger, who said there was no such "con-tingency plan," and shouldn't be. Asked about this, the White House said there was really no contradiction. Both white mouse said there was rearry to contraminate both were right, the White House insisted, since such an idea had been "suggested" some years ago but was rejected. Reagan has dealt with all this as if it were no big deal. "Boys will be boys." Get them in the Oval Office and tell: them to cut it out, and all will be well.

But, frankly, all is not well. If Reagan could read the diplomatic cables going our of Washington to the capitals of his allies and his adversaries, or even invite the bonest opinions of his friends, he would realize that he is not at the end but merely at the beginning of a foreign policy crisis abroad — as well as an economic crisis at bone. As The Wall Street Journal, no enemy of Reagan, said

As the wait Street Johnna, he changed sale recently, these questions of temperament and judgment "underscore the secretary's feelings of insecurity" and "tend to foster a concern that he is unsteady." So the president may have told Haig and Allen to cut the sniping, and asked everybody to settle down and over get it. But the allies are not forgetting it. They are increas-ingly going off on their own, worrying about the judg-ment and disarray of the top officials in Washington. And this same feeling is beginning to pervade the capital. # As Its Communism Collapses, Poland Pursues Consensus

WARSAW - Like every other W Soviet bloc capital, Warsaw was festooned Saturday with red flags and slogans for the 64th anniversary of the Russian Revolution. Fluttering in the autumn breeze, they proclaimed the lofty vision of a Communist society free of ex-ploitation, poverty and injustice. The real world beneath the flags is somewhat different. Sad groups of Poles wait in line for everything from bread to gasoline. Shabby modern apartment houses and illhit streets create an atmosphere of dreariness. Housewives shove each other aside as they surge into de-partment stores bereft of practically all consumer goods, in search of rumored bargain. The contrast between ideology and reality was reflected in a letter to a satirical Warsaw magazine. The writer, Mariusz Michalski, said no action need be taken to extricate Poland from its economic and political crisis because, according to Marxist-Leninist theory, the crisis must be illusory. He quoted from the latest edition of the official Polish encyclopedia, which defines "crisis" as "a serious breakdown of economic develop-ment in capitalism" and adds: "Crises are inseparably linked with the capitalist economy and do not appear in any other socio-economic system The hollowness of Communism in Poland was illustrated by the meeting Wednesday between the party leader, Wojciech Jaruzelski, the Roman Catholic primate, Archbishop Jozef Glemp, and trade unionist Lech Walesa. Communist dogma holds that religion is the opium of the people, and it identifies the workers interests with those of the party. Here, then, were the leaders of two theoretically defunct institutions discussing how to save the nation with an army general representing the mist Party. 'Momentous'

Afterward Jaruzelski described the encounter as of "momentous importance." Marx and Lenin must have turned in their graves. Talk of a coalition of national salvation is much in the air. Big obstacles remain, but it seems closer to realization now than at any time since the onset of labor tronbles in July of last year. The tragedy is that by the time such a broad-based government would finally be formed, it may no longer be adequate to the task.

ernment was discussed privately by members of the Sejm, Poland's parliament, as early as last November. They argued that the authorities had to find some dramatic gesture to regain credibility. Only then could they hope to lead Po-land out of the crisis.

The idea proved premature. A token step was taken with the appointment of a pro-government Catholic, Jezy Ozdowski, as a deputy premier, but the reshuffle meant little to ordinary Poles. They saw it as another game of musical chairs; real political power remained exclusion in the heads remained exclusively in the hands of the Communist Party. When appointed premier in February, Jaruzeiski tried to break out of the cycle of truce-conflicttruce by developing new forms of dialogue, but his efforts were sabo-taged by hard-liners in the party and the government bureaucracy, as well as by radicals in Solidarity.

At the party congress in June, Deputy Premier Mieczyslaw Rakowski called for a broader nation-al consensus. So did some of Solidarity's leading advisers. But once again nothing came of it, and both sides resumed their attacks.

Continuing labor unrest has demonstrated that it is impossible to govern Poland without consensus. But in the meantime the economy has deteriorated. The ability of any authority, Solidarity and the church included, to control the anger of ordinary people is dwindling fast.

Poland's most effective leader, Lech Walesa, even has trouble as-serting his authority over his own rank and file. His announcement that he was to meet with Jaruzelski and Glemp triggered a storm of protest from members of Solidar-ity's national committee, a kind of union parliament that was in session in Gdansk.

Suspicious of Walesa's autocrat-ic streak, other union leaders were reluctant to let him negotiate by himself. He was accused of violating the union's democratic rules, of planning a sellout, of unbridled arrogance. A delegate called for his resignation, Stung by the criticism, Walesa threw what has now become a routine temper tantrum, at one point threatening to "dissolve the union in two weeks unless we trust each other." Later he pleaded: "Let us not destroy ourselves. It is enough that others try to destroy us." A Polish journalist present wrote in the Warsaw daily Zycie Warszawy that in his opinion Walesa was close to breaking down.

Compromises

The delegates finally allowed Walesa to take part in the summit. But the decision was a grudging one, and doubts remain that he can deliver his side of any bargain reached with the authorities.

The quarrels within Solidarity sometimes resemble the divisions that wracked Poland's great revolutionary movements in the past. In 1770, after a period of national Polish patriots started squabbling. As a result, the Rus-sians crushed them and Poland

On Taxes and Deficits

High interest rates and the recession they induced have created a healthy crisis for Reaganomics. The administration can cut taxes and increase military spending, but it cannot then shrink the deficit enough to let the Federal Reserve relent on interest rates. The current deficit is climbing toward $100 billion. Even after the recession lifts, deficits are destined to grow rather than disappear by 1984 as at first promised.

The 1982 deficit is something of a blessing. It will speed up recovery from recession. But large 1983 and 1984 deficits will haunt that recovery, threatening wild inflation or recession-bound interest rates. So the president's men are locked in anguished debate: How will they ever produce the Reagan boom?

Budget Director Stockman thinks it's time to abandon the faith that 1981 tax cuts will produce a timely boom to refill the federal coffers. He wants to plan now for a tax increase of $60-$80 billion, while pressing Congress to cut the budget again by about the same amount. Treasury Secretary Regan, however, clings to the old religion. He thinks the tax cuis of 1981 will bear full fruit in 1983-84 and fears that any reverse of direction would only stall the recovery. He would keep asking for more budget cuts and settle for a trickle of excise tax increases.

The president indicated Friday that he leans toward the Treasury, whose plan has the attraction of not hurting Republicans who run for Congress next year with talk of tax increases. But if he delays too long, he could lose all chance of rescuing his firstterm economic performance.

The Treasury's strategy can never shrink the deficit enough to restrain interest rates. Trying to recover $200 billion more through spending cuts by 1984 would destroy not only the safety net for the poor but the social fabric itself. The Treasury says economic growth will then save the day. But that is the same wishful thinking that forecasts buoyant growth for this period of recession.

President Reagan can forget about 1982; the recession makes the pending deficit bearable, even desirable. But come the recovery, he will have wished he had listened to Stockman. If election year jitters prevent definition of a credible tax strategy in the next few weeks, interest rates will start climbing again right along with production in mid-year.

Key Republicans in Congress want the White House to point toward substantial new revenues from taxes. Any tax increase, of course, mocks the fable that government spending has been the cause of America's economic troubles. Reagan bet once on that myth, but surely once is enough.

No one is emerging with any credit from the current Washington disarray over the politics and strategy of nuclear weapons. With President Reagan and Secretary of State Haig there is the quite serious problem of deciding what exactly they do mean through the swirling eddies of illiterate syntax. In the 15-round contest between Mr. Haig and Defense Secretary Weinberger for the chief foreign policy adviser title, there is

U.S. Policy With a French Accent

By Joseph Kraft

WASHINGTON - It looked like pure ceremony when Francois Mitterrand and Ronald Reagan met in Virginia last month to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the battle of Yorktown. But, in fact, there and later at the Cancun summit in Mexico, French and American officials did some serious business. Now a French ac-cent marks the American approach in Africa, the Middle East and Europe, and there is an opening for escape from the hard-line anti-Communist ideology of the Communist ideology of the Reagan administration. Chad is an example. Libya's Moamer Qadhafi has been moving to take over Chad, using Libyan troops originally sent to support President Goukouni Oueddei. When Sadat was assassinated, Washington hit the panic button and began simultaneously talking and began simultaneously talking up big aid to Sudan and moves to squash Qadhafi, hut hluster availed nothing.

Lore Intact

George F. Kennan's proposals in "A Time to Start Ridding Europe of Nuclear Weapons" (IHT. Oct. 15), while seemingly noble, would, if implemented, greatly increase the likelihood not only of a nuclear war but of a defeat of the United States in that war. They would provide the Soviet Union not only the possibility of a military victory the possibility of a military victory but a gift of inestimable value: an intact Western Europe.

Mr. Kennan was remiss in failing to consider the immeuse ad-vantage — and temptation — to the Soviets of a nuclear-free Europe. In a nuclear war with the United States, even if initiated by a devastating first strike by the So-viet Union, the Soviets would also suffer great harm. # Trout Hanoi Sending Russia Thousands of Workers

By Keyes Beech Los Angeles Times Service BANGKOK - In a program to help pay its huge debt to the Soviet blue, Vietnam is sending thousands of unskilled and semiskilled workers to the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe, according to Western diplomatic sources and the Vietnamese Embassy here.

One diplomatic source estimated that 50,000 workers are being sent to the Soviet Union, East Germany and Bulgaria. A Victoamese Embassy spokesman said the number might reach 100,000 before the end of Vietnam's five-year plan in 1986.

Both Western and Vietnamese sources rejected the characterization of the workers by some Vietnamese refugees as "slave labor." Some accounts of the arrange ment indicate that the individual Vietnamese workers receive 40 percent of their wages, with the other 60 percent credited against Viet-nam's debt to its Socialist partners. There is nothing to indicate that the workers are being forced to go, diplomatic sources reported. "The program makes a lot of sense for all concerned," a diplo-mat said. He noted that Vietnam's economy is in dreadful condition. with hundreds of thousands unemployed. At the same time, Soviet and East European factories can use hard-working Vietnamese. "There's a little something in it for the worker, who has enough money to send home to his family," o diplomat said, "And there's a good deal in it for the Hanci government, which collects its take for the Russians."

"Actually, there's nothing new about this program," a Western diplomat who recently visited Victnam said. "What is new is the oumbers. There has been a marked increase in the number of flights leaving Vietnam for Eastern Europe

Vietnam's foreign debt is estimated at more than $3 billion, and the annual interest of $240 million apparently added urgency to the worker export program. Moreover, Moscow is sending an estimated $1.1 billion a year in economic and military aid, in part to sustain Hanoi's occupation of Cambodia.

Vietnam can do little to repay this aid except to export its unskilled and semiskilled workers.

Manpower is one of the Soviet. Union's most urgent economic needs, especially in the barsh reaches of Siberia where accelerated development of oil, gas and mineral resources, along with in-dustry, is essential to Soviet economic vitality.

Last June, the Soviet State Committee for Labor said that 2 mil-. lion jobs were vacant and that more than 750,000 oew workers were needed each year just to run and many children. They dressed new factories and other enterpris- in rags, rarely ate meat and often es. And changing patterns of pop-ulation growth are intensifying the Soviet manpower problem.

There is precedent for importing foreign workers into the Soviet Union. Several thousand Bulgarians, mostly technicians and engiocers, are working oo projects in the Soviet Union.

Other Asian countries besides Vietnam have provided labor for foreign jobs. Thousands of skilled workers from South Korea, the Philippines and Thailand have for years gone to the Middle East, many to Saudi Arabia, to work on projects there. Their wages sent home to families have helped the economies of their countries.

Vietnam, in addition to exporting labor, can hope to repay some of its debt to the Soviet bloc in trade. Pravda, said after talks in September between Soviet and Vietnamese leaders that deliveries of Vietnamese goods to the Soviet Union would be increased, specifically those of vegetables and fruit to the Soviet Far East and Siberia.

The new BMW 5-Series. The start of an intelligent partnership.

BMW is the world's first car manufacturer to create such a highly integrated information and communication system without resorting to far more complex, costly and bulky technology. The BMW 5-Series introduces a range of high technology systems which have the ability to co-operate and 'think' with the driver to a degree previously unheard of. Through this more intelligent electronic environment the driver gains new freedom to control his own actiona and reactions. And that creates new horizons in the more disciplined use of a car.

Driving in heavy traffic requires undivided attention. The new BMW 5-Series cars actively promote this concentration by eliminating all irrelevant distractions. With our new generation of dashboard controls, we have given every BMW a control aystem which only brings the essentials to your attention. This thinking is immediately apparent from new aystems like active check-control (from 525I), EC anergy-control, SI service-interval indicator, and on-board computer (optional from the 5251).

Automatically safer: active check-control. All cars from the 525i feature tha new geneon active check-control, which is incorporated in a cushioned safety niche just above the windto be serviced - with restrained driving it's invariably later rather than sooner, or at the normal mileage i the car is being continuously driven hard.

New signposts to an economic future: the BMW on-board computer. The BMW on-board computer is a special option on the 525i and 528i. Hardly any other incomprehensive information on the most economic way to drive a car. The scope of the computer ranges from outsida temperature checks to potential blackice warninga, from a apecial anti-theft system to controlling and communicating all relevant driving data.

Make the most of your step up to first-claas motoring. All the instruments and driving controls on the new BMW 5-Series are part of a single ergonomic concept. The arrangement of the seating, steering wheal, gear lever, indicators, instruments and field of vision isn't the accidental by-product of some futuristic design, but is the result of our continual striving to make communication between driver, car and surroundings as completa and uninterrupted as possible.

screen. Throughout a journey it automatically controls headlights, rear lights, cooling system level, number plate lights, brake lights, windscreen-wash and engina oil levels.

This new system considerably enhances operating reliability and driving safety.

BMW'a information advantage: EC anergycontrol.

All 5-Series cars from the 5251 have an integrated fuel consumption meter fitted as standard. The EC energy-control indicates the exact 100 km fuel consumption in avery gear and at any given moment. It therefora surpasses and supercedes every other similar system, such as the so-called 'econometers' found on many cars today. Comparative tests show that simply having a precise fuel meter working continuously can reduce consumption by more than 10%.

Motoring economy takes a significant new step into the future: BMW introduces the SI system. When you need to take your new BMW 5-Series car in for a service depends entirely on the way you drive. The BMW computer stores and evaluate the information relating to how the car is being driven. In this flexible way the service-interval indicator tells you when it's time for various components

The unique opportunity for the future: intelli-gent technology plus Intelligent driving. The electronic information aystem on the new 5-Series provides drivers with all the basic data needed to make better and more rational driving decisions. With its introduction BMW has come a long way on the road to achieving the ideal team relationship between driver and car. But these new cars can achieva a lot more than just enhance your ability as a drivar. Through their very character they are tha perfect complement to a distinctly individual life-style: never has so much first-class quality been so unobtrusively and modestly displayed.

The new BMW 5-Series: as new as the aware-ness with which they're driven. Test drive one soon.

BMW cars.

The BMW range of fine automobiles: the ultimate in performance, comfort and safety.

NEW YORK — Hydroelectric power in the Pacific Vorthwest of the United States has been so plentiful that, in he 1930s, the Bonneville Power Administration even hired he folk singer Woody Guthrie to promote electrical use. and, until recently, many utility officials would meet annuilly to decide how in lower rates.

But the days of cheap power have come to a halt, mired in But the days of cheap power have come to a halt, mired in he financial problems of a group of utilities that undertook in overly ambitious program to bring more nuclear power o the region. And these regional problems are now rever-wrating in the depressed U.S. municipal bond market. The spark behind all this was a plan by the Washington Yuhlic Power Supply System to build five nuclear plants — blants that are now 500 percent over budget, up to six years pechiod schedule and whose $6.8 billion in outstanding bonds have sintted investors' portfolios and raised serious

Austrichts about the manicipal bond market's abuity to be a bottomless fund for civic projects. "When you think of New York City in 1975, you are alking nickels and dimes compared to Whoops," said Rob-rt Adler, an analyst with Prescott, Ball & Turben, referring o the company's initials, W.P.P.S.S. "This is the biggest dary in the municipal bond market --- curr" story in the municipal bond market --- ever."

Largest Borrower Ever

The Supply System, a borrowing consortium of 23 small stillines, is the largest borrower ever in the municipal bond market, and its outstanding bonds have so glutted investors' portfolios that many have refused to buy any more of its bonds, regardless of price.

The five plants remain unfinished. Two plants have been put into mothballs until 1983 in an effort to keep funds lowing to other three — which still need additional financ-ing of $4.2 billion.

And those owning its bonds, mainly major institutional buyers, have sustained losses of up to 60 percent in the value of their holdings. For instance, some Supply System bonds issued at $100 are now trading for around $40, and the system's bonds generally trade at prices lower than other bonds of the same rating.

At its most recent borrowing, the system had in offer a record tax-free yield of 15 percent to attract investors and, this summer, a downgrade in the ratings to Bas-1 and A on bonds for two of the plants made those particular issues virtually unmarketable and forced the mothhalling scheme.

In the state of Washington, voters face a referendum, which, if passed, would bar the issuance of further Supply System bonds without a vote of the public.

"In the last 10 years, the municipal bond markets began lending huge amounts of money to high-risk ventures, which nuclear power plants are," said AnnMarie Walsh, director of the Institute of Public Administration, a private research agency, and the author of "The Public's Business," a study of the municipal bond market. "And the municipal bond market unlike compensions have neuromarket, unlike corporations, have never been organized to assess the underlying risk of an enterprise. Somehow they believe that governments will always bail them out."

"This whole process should have been stopped long ago." said Jeffrey Whitehorn, an analyst with Dreyfus Corp. "But the question is: Who should stop it? When you ask: "Who's at fault? the answer is, "Everyone." " Rubert L. Ferguson, the Supply System's fourth manag-ing director in 10 years, vows he can meet the most recent construction and cost schedules, barring rapid increases in construction and cost schedules, barring rapid increases in conborrowing costs or mandated regulatory changes in construction.

The most recent timetable calls for the completion of Plant No. 1, which is 41-percent finished, by June, 1986, requiring additional financing of $1.7 billion. Plant No. 2, 86-percent complete, is scheduled to be finished by Febraary, 1984, and needs $1 hillion more. Plant No. 3, 32-per-cent complete, needs $1.5 billion more to meet a December, 1986, completion date.

The current estimate of the final bill for Plants 1, 2 and 3 is $12 billinn. If the mothballed Plants 4 and 5 are added, (Continued on Page 11, Col. 1)

Suzuki Urged by Panel To Act on Trade Issue

From Agency Disparche TOKYO - Premier Zenkn Suzuki was reported to be preparing in call a Cabinet meeting on Monday in discuss a report from a government-sponsored mission that urged immediate action to im-prove Japan's relations with its major trading partners. Mr. Suzuki said Saturday after hearing the report that Japan's concentration of exports in certain fields is viewed as "exportation of unemployment," the Kyodn news service reported.

A government spokesman said Mr. Suzuki has appointed a special task force to increase imports in hopes of easing trade frictino with the United States and Western Eu-rope. He assigned Toshin Komnto, directing assigned toshin Komnto, director general of the Economic Planning Agency, to head the group charged with forming a chensive plan to boost purcompt chases from Japan's major trading pariners

Yoshihiro Inayama, who headed the trade mission and is chairman of the powerful Japan Federatinn Economic Organizations, said of the Japanese government should immediate actino tn clear take nontariff barriers and increase imports in alleviate trade friction with Europe and the United States. He expressed concern that Europe viewed Japan's economic power as a pulitical problem and reported to Mr. Suzuki that Ja-pan's trade surplus is disrupting harmoninus relations with its allies. "Stagflation and unemployment have plagued Western Euro-pean countries and developed into political problems," Mr. Inayama

Although sluggish dnmestic de-mand was the chief cause of the prohlem in many European countries, "Japan's growing exports have given those countries an excuse [to tell] their peoples ... Japan is exporting unemploy-ment," Mr. Inayama said. He and other business leaders recommended that Japan reduce tariffs on whiskey and biscuits and completely liberalize imports of agricultural products. He also proposed the government lift import quotas on foodstuffs, leather and shoes and simplify import screen-ing to allow U.S. and European exporters to ship their products to Japan more casily. Mr. Komoto, who will chair the task force's first meeting next week, suggested Japan purchase some passenger planes from Euro-pean aircraft makers to lease them to third countries.

Separately, the U.S. ambassador to Japan, Mike Mansfield, said in a magazine interview that the United States shnuld sell Alaskan oil to Japan. "We could work out a swap arrangement with Mexico nr even the Mideast countries, pay a lot less and, by shipping surplus oil to Japan, earn a loi more, and oni only help Japan hut help ourselves oo the balance-of-paymeots prob-lem," he tnld U.S. News and World Report.

Japanese Stocks Lose Allure for Foreigners By Steve Lohr

New York Times Service TOKYO — A few days ago, over a course of black mushroom soup at an elegant restaurant here, Howard Stein, president of the Dreyfus Corp., said, "We've been cutting back our investment in Japanese stocks substantially.

In recent months, the 55-year-nld chief of Dreyfus, the big mutual-fund concern based in New York, has had plenty nf company. Since July, fnreign investors, who during 1980 and much of this year were plunging into the Japanese slock market with abandon, have been pulling back sharply. In September, foreign investors were net sellers of Japanese issues by a record 158.7 billion yen ($690 millinn), figures released by the Tokyn Stock Exchange show. The september sell-off was more than dnuhle the previous record for a month — 61.9 billion yen, in December, 1973.

Two explanations of the foreign selling have been offered. Investors are leaving the Japanese market fur higher yields elsewhere, it is suggested, and their withdrawal merely reflects the recent worldwide market slump. Both explana#### tions have flaws, though, High U.S. Interest Rates

First, the record net sales in September took place during a month when interest rates in the United States had begun in decline. Besides, during some of the previous months this year and last, when foreign investors were net purchasers of large quantities nf Japa-nese stocks, U.S. interest rates were at nr near record peaks.

Second, the first sign of foreign-ers pulling away from Japanese stocks - net sales of 18.3 billion yen in hillioo yen in May — came long before the collapse in world stock markets.

Zenko Suzuki

It seems that part of the selling wave has been simply a reaction to wave has been simply a reaction to the earlier rush into Japanese equi-ties. From March 3], 1980, to March 3], 1981, the foreigners' share of all Japanese stock hold-ings nearly doubled to 5.9 percent from 3 percent, according in Daiwa Securities. It estimates their share now at 5 percent share now at 5 percent.

"The fnreign buying just couldn't go no at the pace it was," said Takeji Yamashita, manager of Daiwa's institutional advisory and research department. "There had to be a reaction, and that's what we're seeing now."

Beynod that, however, some fnreign investors seem in be showing greater caution in making new commitments in the Japanese market, now that they are becoming more familiar with the way it oper > ates. An investment banker summed up the most common criticism of Japan's stock market when he said, Everynne knows it's rigged." The basis for this charge is the influence and market share held by the so-called Big Four investment houses -- Nomura, Yamaichi, Nikko and Daiwa. Together, they account for 50 percent or more of all domestic securities transactions and most underwritings. This is a far greater display of brokers' power than is found in the United States, for example. In Japan, antitrust laws do not prohibit such concentration. And the government agency that oversees the Japanese markets, the

New Canadian Policy Poses Big Challenge for Imperial Oil By Andrew H. Malcolm that no single envernmental policy Imperial Oil's Growth and Diversification New York Times Service could threaten all its business. Wilf TORONTO - On a autumn day Gobert, an analyst with Peters & SALES EARNINGS

101 years ago, a group of Ontario businessmen each invested $25,000 to form Imperial Oil, a company founded to combat the invasion by U.S. oil interests. Imperial lost that fight. It was later swallowed by those same U.S. oil interests, which became Exxon

Corp., the world's largest oil company. But ever since, Imperial has won many more struggles than it has lost on the way to becoming the largest integrated oil and gas

Now the company may be fac-ing its stiffest challenge as a result of Canada's increasingly national-istic energy policy, which, it is argued, discriminates against foreign companies and their interests in Canada by using taxes and explo-rating grants to favor Canadian-

Company in Calgary, said that last year nnly 52 percent of the compa-ny's earnings were derived from petroleum products. Some 31 percent came from other natural resources including its Syncrude share: 13 percent from chemicals, and 4 percent from mining and miscellaneous areas.

Dominant Power

"When you are the largest, like Imperial," said Ira Katzin of Pilfield, Mackay Ross, an investment firm, "you have the most to gain and the most to lose. You don't jump into things very quickly. And you don't abandon ship very quickly.

Inextricably tied to Canadian history, Imperial has for decades beco a dominant national industrial power and a key establishment ed to grant it considerable autonomy. With an energetic refurbishing of its public relations machinery recently, Imperial has been more outspoken in defense of itself and the oil industry in general.

Despite a decline in earnings in the first half of this year to 259 million Canadian dollars ($214 million) from $300 million a year carlier, it is generally agreed that Imperial is in a solid position.

The company attributed the decline to a number of factors, including the new 8-percent federal tax on oil and gas production, a decline in output resulting from -mature fields, cutbacks ordered by Alberta to pressure Ottawa, and the need for major repairs at Syn-crude, the 25-percent owned instal-

Some U.S. companies have al-ready sold their Canadian holdings rather than operate under the evolving program. But Imperial is expected to remain in Exxon's hands, in large part because of its huge size and diversified business.

There are, however, other headaches. These include reassessment of the stalled $13-billion Cold Lake oil sands project in Alberta; ties that regularly crupt from the perpetual feuds between Canada's provinces and its federal government in Ottawa, and the need to raise vast sums of capital for costly explorations in a market historically short of domestic capital.

"Imperial, like many other com-panies in the Canadian oil indusry, faces an uncertain on indus-try, faces an uncertain future," said J.A. Armstrong, the compa-ny's chairman. Mr. Armstrong, however, who is retiring at the end of the year, will not be dealing member, despite its prominent forwith that future. The company has eign ownership. Imperial has been chosen a new chairman, Donald a resented symbol of U.S. econom-K. Prices Climb as Fixed-Rate Debt Sells Briskly

By William Ellington AP-Dow Jones

LONDON --- International bond prices rose by between two and three points this week as investors eagerly snapped up the fixed-rate debt issues on offer.

Although the market encoun-tered some profit-taking at the end of the week, several traders reported that institutions were active buyers on any weakness.

According to bond syndication specialists, many corporations are waiting for lower interest costs be-fore floating bond issues because the U.S. recession appears to be getting worse.

Furthermore, interest levels in the U.S. bond market have continued in decline faster than they have in Europe. According to cal-culations by Salomon Bros., 10-year U.S. Treasury bonds are now viciding at least 100 basis points less than 10-year, prime quality Eurobonds. This is the widest spread seen so far this year. Salomon reckons

As result, borrowers are more likely to tap the U.S. market than the Eurobond market. Therefore, analysts are expecting the supply of Eurobond offerings to remain relatively light at a time when deuand for fixed-rate debt remains itrong.

Nonetheless, traders say that the current rally has been strongly influenced by a decline in short-term

The Bank of Montreal floated a $150-million, 10-year bond issue at par bearing 16.25 percent through a syndicate led by Union Bank of Switzerland (Securities) Ltd. It was quoted Friday at 99.25-99.75 or comfortably near the issue price.

New, even 1 ounce, 1/2 ounce and 1/4 ounce coins.

If you've been waiting for the perfect time to buy gold. this is the gold you've been waiting for. The Gold Coins of Mexico in perfect, even-weight sizes. These are annually-dated coins, minted in unlimited quantities for people who want to own gold in convenient, ounce-related sizes. They're legal tender and also have a unique liquidity. For they're supported by the central bank of Mexico, Banco de Mexico, which guarantees full redemption at a price based on the current market value of gold.

And since they contain precisely one, 1/2 and 1/4 troy ounces of pure gold, you can now invest precisely what you want to in gold. Which means, if you customarily buy one-ounce coins, or keep your gold in even-weight lots, you now have a perfect opportunity to diversify your gold holdings with our 1 oz. coin. Or, if you prefer to invest little by little, you can choose from our smaller and more affordable 1/2 oz. and 1/4 oz. coins.

Due to their even weights, it's even easier for you to determine their value by checking the gold ounce price in your daily newspaper.

And because they're part of the world's best-selling series of gold bullion coins-over 75,000,000 sold worldwide-and minted for Mexico's Federal Reserve Bank, Banco de Mexico, they enjoy a long tradition of international acceptability and liquidity. So you'll find them easy to trade wherever you go. What's more, if you're looking for high liquidity and high gold content in a coin, you'll find them both in our 50-Peso gold piece. With more than 12 troy ozs. of pure gold and over 17,000,000 purchased worldwide, it's one of the world's largest and most popular gold bullion coins.

As with our 50-Peso gold piece, our 1 oz., ½ oz. and ¼ oz. coins are easy to buy and resell around the world or around the corner. So you needn't ever look far to find precisely what you want in gold.

And you needn't wait. Because The Gold Coins of Mexico are here-and everywhere-in precisely the sizes you've always wanted.

The Gold Coins of Mexico are available wherever gold bullion coins are sold. Write for a free brochure to: The Gold Coins of Mexico, P.O. Box 1812, New York, N.Y. 10163 U.S.A.

Many traders in Japan say that he Big Four can - and do nove stock prices up or down at heir whim, frequently buying and clling together as a kind of closeinit club. Foreign investors feel hey are outside the club.

The Big Four Are Buying'

Even people who contend that he Big Four do not have a viseike grip on stock prices concede that their weight in the market is considerable. The most convincing argument a client hears is that the Big Four are buying," said Noburnitsu Kagami, an economist at Jardine Fleming, a Tokyo invest-ment concern. Mr. Kagami was formerly a director of research at the Nomura Research Institute, an -affiliate of Japan's biggest brokerage house.

Foreign investment executives compare the Japanese securities market with the U.S. market of half a century ago, when it was still largely a domestic domain and a few key investors could sometimes establish pools or corners. However, with the relaxing of foreign-exchange controls last December and the increasingly international tone of the Japanese market, the execu-tives think the Big Four's influence has ebbed.

"I think the Japanese market is a good deal better market than it used to be - less rigged, if one chooses to use that term," said Robert G. Wade Jr., president of the Bank of America's Investment Management Corp. in San Francisco.

The great attraction of the Japanese equity market is the dynamic growth of the nation's economy when other countries seem to be foundering. Industrial activity, despite some weak sectors, is getting stronger, and the Japanese economy is expected to show a real growth rate of 5 percent this year.

Rollin D. Barnard, president of the United States League of Sav-ings Associations, said Friday that Americans deposited $18.7 billion in "All Savers" certificates at the almost 5,000 U.S. savings associations during October, the first month they were available. Mr. Bernard disputed reports by industry analysts that the certifi-cates had not lived up to expectations. The new certificates are "the most successful new savings prod-

Northwestern's Dyche Stadium, A 61-14 rout by Michigan State put the cord books with a 29-game losing streak, longest ever by a major college orted buttons urging the doormat Big Ten team to "Stop State at 28," but never in doubt. There was some satisfaction when Northwestern scored its own the metal uprights before security police chased them from the field.

Mayers Are Finalists

In Stockholm Tennis The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM - Sandy Mayer upset top-seeded Jimmy Connors, 6-3, 6-3, Sunday to set up a final with younger brother Gene in the Stockholm Open tennis tournament Gene Mayer, the No. 3 seed, had downed Hank Pfister, 6-3, 6-2, earlier in the day.

Turnbull Wins in Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP) - Top-seeded Wendy Turnbull of Australis won the women's finals of a professional tennis tournament here Sunday with an easy 6-3, 6-0 victory over Sabina Simmonds of Italy. Rain suspended the men's final until Monday: American Van Winitsky was leading Australian Mark Edmondson, 6-4, 5-5.

Long Beach, Calif. Its legality was protested by other teams; an FIA tribunal later ruled that the Long Beach model contravened regulations. Lotus produced a slightly modified version at the British Grand Priz.

That version was also protested by Ferrari, Alfa-Romeo and Talbot-Ligier, and FISA President Jean-Marie Balestre said it was a derivative of the original banned car and could not race.

Lotus appealed to the RAC. The three teams appealed to the FIA tribunal, the sport's highest body, that the RAC did oot have jurisdiction.

Ferrari Hapy

Said Ferrari representative Marco Piccininni after Friday's verdict: "We are pleased to see that the international structure of mo-tor sports works and that the FIA can give a quick and impartial judgment. "It would bring chaos to the sport if national appeals tribunals could overrule the international decisions."

It would not have been correct, af-prentice; it doesn't switch off after its mission has been accomplished." The author's insights frequently bring universal and contemporary relevance to otherwise exotic episodes in the annals of human parasitology. In the title piece, in which a tapeworm infestation stemming from a New Guinean habit of eating undercooked pork recalls the fishworm invasion of Jewish grandmothers who tasted underoooked gefilte fish, to see if it was done, an Indonesian governor remarks with an air of superiority that it is difficult to change the customs of primitive people even for the sake of their health. Desowitz relates, "I was about to agree when I noticed that we were both smoking cigarettes." In pithy reports, Desowitz shows how creatures as small as six tenthousandths of an inch managed to change the course of human history. In this case, the trypanosome carried by the infamous tsetse fly caused a fatal infection in horses that stopped a 19th-century Muslim cavalry invasion in its tracks, thus preventing Islam and its vast sociopolitical influences from infiltrating the densely populat-ed Benue and Niger river valleys. After reading about tapeworms and anisakiasis acquired by eating raw food, will you ever again be able to enjoy steak tartare, sushi or green herring? Desowitz has not been deterred: At the home of a friend from the Cook Islands, he dined recently on Tahitian marinated fish ---"and I went back for seconds. It was delicious."

Allen carried the ball a careerhigh 46 times for 243 yards to account for more than half of USC's total offense of 424 yards en route to breaking the Pacific-10 rushing record of 1,875 set by former Trojan Ricky Bell and the NCAA mark of 1,948 set by Tony Dorsett of Pittsburgh. With the victory, USC (8-1) jumped into first place in the conference race to the Rose Bowl.

Allen has rushed for 200 or more yards in seven of USC's nine games this season. The three touchdowns he scored against Cal (2-7), all on 1-yard dives, gave Al-len 21 for the year, 20 by rushing - leaving him only two short of the Pac-10 record of 22 set former Trojan O.J. Simpson. Said Cal Coach Roger Theder, "When you rush for that many yards and they take the pounding Marcus does, he deserves all the credit he can get."

Pittsburgh 47, Rutgers 3

In East Rutherford, N.J., quarterback Dan Marino passed for 239 yards, including three touchdowns, as top-ranked Pittsburgh routed Rutgers, 47-3, for its 15th consecutive victory, the longest winning streak among major colleges. The Panthers fell behind

Rutgers, 3-0, on Alex Falcinelli's 26-yard first-quarter field goal. But Marino, who completed 18 of 28 passes, threw TD passes of 5 yards to fullback Wayne DiBartola and 31 yards to tight end John Brown for Pittsburgh's first two scores. Marino added a 1-yard run in the third period and capped his day with a 30-yard TD strike to flanker

Barry Compton. "Offensively, we knew we could stick it to them and drive it down their throats," said halfback Bryan Thomas, who ran for 168 yards. 'It was just a matter of time. NEW YORK - Friday brought

Holmes Keeps Title on TKO After Surviving Knockdown

By Dave Anderson New York Times Service PITTSBURGH - One punch. One punch had Larry Holmes

spinning like the Las Vegas roulette wheels that must have stopped in shock Friday night, when the World Boxing Council heavyweight champion's anticipat-ed $50-million showdown there in March with Gerry Cooney was momentarily in jeopardy. One punch — a roundhouse right that Renaldo Snipes threw from somewhere in Yonkers - almost created the biggest upset in boxing history. Almost. But before and after that seventh-round punch, Holmes was in command. And when Referee Rudy Ortega stopped the fight in the 11th, he acted wisely.

Nonsgreement

Snipes did not agree, of course; a fighter never does. His manager. Nick Rattenni Jr., did oot agree either, a manager never does. "Re-naldo kept saying, 'I knew this is what they were going to do to me," Rattenni said Saturday. "He wasn't glassy-eyed, he wasn't blurhimself, either. Backed into his corner, Snipes was on his feet but his hands were down. He had been battered by a barrage of punches, mostly thun-derous rights, and Holmes was measuring him for another when Ortega stepped in. From a ringside seat 15 feet away, it appeared to be the first round. the correct call. But some spectators at the Civic Arena disputed it. Loudly

"The ref," one growled, "didn't even wait for the kid to be knocked down." Why? So that the kid could be lifted onto a stretcher and put in an ambulance?

As it turned out, Snipes had to go to a hospital in an ambulance anyway - to have a deep, three-inch gash on his left forearm

In a postfight scuffle in the ring betweeo Rattenni and Jake Holmes, the champion's brother, the manager bumped into trainer Jim Williams, who was trying to ent the tape off Snipes' gloves with a pair of scissors. In the confusion, the 25-year-old boxer was stabbed by the scissors across the left forearm. He occided 12 stitches inside the wound and 12 more to

When it does, Snipes eventually will get another title shot. Strong and willing and just awkward it's not surprising for him to imply enough to be confusing, he is one that promoter Don King (who of only three gladiators to knock ooce was Larry Holmes' manager) down Holmes in the 32-year-old and the WBC may have been over-

"I was more surprised than referee finally determined that Chuck Wepner had bled enough and awarded the bout to Sonny hurt," Hohmes said in assessing Snipes' right. "Shavers hit me harder."

Groper

Maybe so, but when Shavers asked if Wepner was the most conrageous man he had ever seen. "No," sneered Liston, "his man-ager is." crashed a right hand on him in Las Vegas two years ago and he went down as if he had fallen off a porch, Holmes was up almost instantly. When he went down Friday night, Holmes turned and groped for the ropes before haul-ing himself up. He then recuperat-

Friday, somewhere Gerry Cocoey had to be smiling. In their Las Vegas extravaganza. Holmes surely will be more careful than be was here. According to his oow-exiled trainer, Richie Giachet ti, the champioo was vulnerable for Snipes' right. "He had his hands down and he wasn't moving," Giachetti said. "He was flat-footed, and that's when you get

Nobody questions Cooney's ability to hit. He's unbeaten in 25 fights, with 21 knockouts. Io his last two appearances, he disposed of Keo Norton and Ron Lyle in The primary questions about Coocey concern his ability to take a punch and endure a long, diffi-cult fight. Neither is likely to be 142 answered in his scheduled Dec. 5 tune-up with Joe Bugner, who is 31 and trying to make a comeback. Other than a four-round knockout of one Gilbert Acuna oearly 15 months ago in Los Angeles, the Englishman has not had a fight in more than four years.

Snipes emerged as the only impressive heavyweight contender of the seven on Friday's card. Michael Dokes, ranked second by the WBC and third by the World Boxing Association, plodded through George Chaplin in a unanimous 10-round decision.

That one punch by Snipes saved the show, bot it could not save him from eventually being knocked out on his feet, his first loss after 22 victories. It also could not save Rattenni from being unfamiliar with boxing's toughest infighting - that which occurs outside the ring and often long before the bell. "I didn't know who the officials were," Rattenni said, "until they were announced." Some boxing people knew the identity of the three judges and the ocnvoing re-feree two weeks ago. By the nature of arranging a tune-up for what may be a $50-million promotion,

Olympians to Have Say in Running of Games

The Associated Press NEW YORK - Athletes worlded the athletes like children who wide have won a common victory.

They are being given a permanent voice in the running of the Olym-Dic Games. Juan Antonio Samaranch, presi-dent of the International Olympic

Star Performance

The athletes made a big hit at Baden-Baden. They met privately every day during the congress and hammered out a common policy on outstanding Olympic problems. They chose their own spokesmen to explain their views from the congress rostrum.

Formo talked about drugs and called for tougher punishment of athletes who break the doping rules and for coaches, doctors and team leaders who let them do so.

Bach dealt with eligibility and called on the IOC to amend its rules, easing strictures on amateurs so that they are not branded as professionals. Coe appealed to officials from the organizing committee for the 1984 Los Augeles Games to provide sufficient warm-up time for athletes and to minimize distractions.

But "bungie" was a mystery. Re-cently, Lisbeth Mark of New York sent me this query: "I have been stumped by a word that I cannot find in my dictionaries. It is an elastic cord with hooks on either end, wrapped by brightly colored threads and usually sold in hard-ware stores and bike shops. I've heard them called 'stretchies,' 'shock cords' and 'those rubbery things with the hooks.' I've always things with the hooks.' I've always called them 'bungee cords.' I've never had occasion to spell the word 'bungee' until now." She asked for aid in the spelling and derivation of the word.

"I have checked in Madison, Wis.," reports F.G. Cassidy, direc-tor-editor of the Dictionary of American Regional English, who has shlepped millions of citations to the University of Wisconsin for his monumental enterprise, "Lisbeth Mark's spelling, 'bungee,' is not given, 'Bungie cord' is the prevailing term, though 'stretch cord' was given once as an alternative."

Most actors tell you that to watch ordinary people role-playing is essential for the job. But one night recently Sukowa was asked to leave a Champs-Elysces cab-aret because the management admits to only one possible role for lone females. "I had eaten there with friends and they were ready to go home but I wanted to stay. I was fascinated. There were a lot of b ssmen with their wives, trying to be, you know, liberal, loose, dancing and slapping derrières, trying to show some-how that they're really with it after office hours. All I wanted to do was stay at the table and look. But they told me I had to g0.

Sukowa was in Paris to promote Rainer Werner Fassbinder's film "Lola," which opens here Nov. 18. "Lola" takes place in the 1950s in a West German town where a workaholic idealist named von Bohm (Armin Mueller-Stahl)has just been appointed commis-sioner of poblic works. The town's financial strings are pulled by Schuckert (Mario Adorf), an entrepreneur who considers corruption just another of the costs of doing busin

Von Bohm accepts the fact that greed may have its proper place in the West Germany in the 1950s, when everybody is rebuilding for a better future, trying to forget the nightmare. He is a humanist who believes passionately in Social De-mocracy and in getting the joh done. Post-war Germany had need of energetic peo-ple like Schuckert, and von Bohm figures he can keep him in line.

Von Bohm is struck by Lola's daytime beauty, not knowing that at night she is a hooker in the local bordel and that almost everybody he does business with carouses there at night. He gets a crush on her, kiss-ing her hand gallantly, before he learns the town's nightime secret and is crushed by it.

Coincidental

Any resemblance to Josef von Stern-berg's 1930 Mariene Dietrich vehicle "The Blue Angel," is purely coincidental, the producers maintain.

At the end of "The Blue Angel," the schoolteacher who married Lola cackles "Cockadoodledoo" in one of the most memorable and pathetic scenes in movie history. Now the commissioner just passively accepts losing honor and principles. Cackling is old-fashioned.

Sukowa, who plays the Dietrich-like part, says she had been struck by the similarity between the scene in the Paris caba-ret and the film's principal location. And the management had, in fact, cast her in the same role.

"I've never really been a women's libber. My father is a businessman and he has to go to his office every day with a tie and a suit and he can never show weak-ness. I don't think that sort of role is something women should fight for — but last night might have changed my mind." She seemed more innocent than angry: Just because I wanted to be alone in a cabaret they treated me like a whore."

Sukowa, who is 31. remembers "little things" about the 1950s - ribbed stockings, high-heeled shoes, the smell of her mother's lipstick, hig American cars, black American soldiers.

But mostly she remembers budding guilt — not being served breakfast in a Dutch hotel, her father trying to explain why Germans were disliked. She began to ask questions about the war ("You'd be amazed how many Germans say they hid a Jew").

When she played German terrorist Gu-drun Enssiin in Margarethe von Trotta's "Die Bleierne Zeit" (The Leaden Years), which won the Golden Lion award in last September's Venice Film Festival, she did it, she says, with "a certain amount of sympathy. Ensslin suffered greatly from guilt. She said she would never let horrors like concentration camps happen again. She wanted to act to improve the world and of course she went too far. But I could identify with her motivations, if not her means."

'I Was Lousy'

Sukowa grew up in Bremen. Her family could afford to send her to California as an exchange student in her senior year of high school, where she went onstage for the first time. She played an old woman and a young girl in the same play and it was so much fun she decided to take it seriously. She came back to Bremen and studied theater. Her first role was in 1971 in the Peter Handke play "Ritt über den Bodensee" (Ride over Lake Constance). "I wasn't the star and I was lousy."

She moved up in the world of German theater in Darmstadt, Bremen and Frank-furt and in the mid-1970s played half a dozen roles in Hamburg's Deutsches Schanspielhans. She made her first feature film in 1980, Caroly Makk's "Die Jäger" (Deadly Games), co-starring Mel Farrer and Heimut Berger. She had worked with Fassbinder twice before — in the play "Franen von New York" in Hamburg, and the TV series "Berlin Alexanderplatz," in which she played a girl from the 1920s with a ribbon in her hair.

"Recently," ahe says, "I was sitting in a train across from two girls with ribbons in their hair just like the one I wore and they were tailing about how much they loved my part. But they didn't recognize me." This she treats as a blessing more than an injury. Despite being the subject of a #### recent cover story in the newsweekly Der. Spiegel, she can still walk around Munich, where she lives with actor Hans-Michael Rehburg, and not be recognized. "A lot of actors come into the room and the room is full right away just with their presence. They cultivate that. I like to slide in. I'm more the sort of person that gets thrown out of rooms." Sukowa had just spent the day playing the role of a dentist — or at least that's what it reminded ber of. The journalists were lined up outside, they came in one after the other with slight variations of the same questions and it was like pulling teeth.

"I find eight hours of conversation without the slightest trace of any communication very depressing. I started asking them questions. Yon know: 'How did you become a journalist? Do you like your job? What does your husband do?' Mostly they looked confused, some of them seemed threatened. Maybe they thought I was trying to make fun of them. I had to lie down on the couch when it was over. I felt like crying. Where were you born?

"New York? You grew up in New York? I can never imagine what a child does in New York. Where did you play? Kids really play in the streets? Aren't there little parks behind the big buildings? Do people really get killed there and ao-body turns around?" body turns around?

Well, you have to remember we mainly hear the bad news. When people smile at each other or help each other out in some way, that does not make the papers. May-be somebody should start a paper that carries only good news.

Yes yes. That's a wonderful idea. Why don't you start a paper like that?" She sat up on the edge of her chair: "It's such a shame, you know, we have to develop such thick skins to be able to deal with all the bad news. So many people getting killed and starving. We begin to screen it out

When Sukowa was a child people called her "the little clown." She gives the im-pression that she has made a conscious decision not to let the little girl in her the, never to be ashamed of being naive, not to accept society's roles as inevitable: "I recently threw out my television set. I did not want my 3-year-old son to see all that violence. The other day we were taking a walk in the forest and he picked up a stick and pointed it at a woman who was walking in the other direction. 'Bang bang,' he said: 'You're dead.'

"The woman patted him on the head; 'Oh please don't shoot me.' He looked at her and squinted and said: 'Okay, I won't' But when she walked away he pointed the stick and shot her in the back. I said to him: 'You shouldn't break your promises.' Why are boys so fascinated with guns? Do you have a child?"
